

JANUARY 18TH OR 23RD STEVE GILL PRESENTING

The updated ELL Critical Data Process

The information contained in this second edition of the ELL Critical Data Process is based upon what has been learned since first publishing on the ELL Critical Data Process. The questions from the over 7,000 people who were trained on the process to date truly helped in improving the process and how the process is explained. (2017, Gill & Nanayakkara)

This presentation will provide participants with updated information about how to gather and examine data as part of the ELL Critical Data Process. Participants are invited to stay for a short meeting of the WABE Special Education Special Interest Group following the presentation. This will be an opportunity to identify the needs of practitioners around the state and for gathering resources that we can share.
